PART I

WHAT | WHO | HOW

Brief description:

PORTALFEST is a new-music mini-festival to be held in Wellington City late January / early February of 2019.

This document contains materials useful for participants and partners of the project.

WHAT

The PORTALFEST kaupapa is to create a new format contemporary music festival celebrating the music of the new generation of contemporary music practitioners, featuring international and local artists in performances around Wellington's city centre. It is a two weekend festival: Fri 25 - Sat 26 Jan / Fri 1st - Sat 2nd Feb utilising the venues: Adam Art Gallery, Potocki Paterson Gallery, Pegasus Books, and Pyramid Club, for two evenings of new-music adventures.

PORTALFEST is a festival celebrating the music of the new generation of contemporary music practitioners. 2019's festival will feature composers and performers based in Switzerland, Germany, Australia, and New Zealand in a two night weekend festival (Friday and Saturday) in the bustling city of Wellington, NZ. The festival's focus is to utilise the myriad of art gallery spaces all in close proximity in the middle of Wellington city to create two evenings of new-music adventures in the city.

Festival Artists

Our headlining act are the Swiss ensemble Kollektiv Totem (KIT), a group formed in Zurich who create an enthralling musical and experimental theatre experience, utilising art-installation paradigms and electronic technologies, such as headphone stations and phone apps to mesh with a larger live performative work. Their innovative work has been toured around the world, including Odessa, Shenzhen, Amsterdam, Hong Kong, Melbourne, and now to Wellington audiences. In this latest tour KIT will be working on a site specific performance of their show Des Astres along with resident artists in each city to 'remix' the project each time. The performance in Wellington will be curated and reshaped for Wellington in collaboration with a number of Wellington performers and will take the shape of a multi-venue performance, leading the audience around to exciting spaces in the city.

We will be curating performances in the festival including projects by cellist David Moran (Melbourne), and Berlin/Wellington-based composer Antonia Barnett-McIntosh, and a final late-night electronic music set featuring WLG-based electronic artists in collaboration with Tub's Audio (WLG). The idea of this part of the festival is to create a succession of portals in different spaces around the city, in an unfolding story through the the evening.

Our festival wants to promote the creation of new work by NZers, so we have created a commission project with composers Louisa Nicklin, and Reuben Jelleyman to produce new works with our featured artist David Moran. David will present the solo cello recital at Pyramid Club on the first night.

Portalfest will be featuring international guests Kollektiv International Totem, David Moran, Wellington-based artists Elliot Vaughan,Antonia Barnett-MacIntosh and misc. electronic-music artists, and featuring new commissions by NZ composers Louisa Nicklin, and Reuben Jelleyman.

The festival runs as a succession of event portals, a theme that has been developed over 2018 by Reuben Jelleyman with his small-format contemporary music shows with a NZ-composer focus.

About PORTALS

'Portal I' featuring Jake Church playing works by Wellingtonians Marcus Jackson, Glen Downie and Reuben Jelleyman, and 'Portal II' featuring Eric Lamb playing works by Wellingtonians Joe Gorman and Reuben Jelleyman. 'Portals' is projected to future iterations throughout 2019, and Portalfest is seen as a culmination of this project.

WHO

The project will be under the direction of artistic director Reuben Jelleyman and a team of local musicians.

Kollektiv Totem (CH) is composed of people from different cultures, looking to the same direction concerning what could be music theatre today. They create some reenactment music theatre pieces, incorporating and staging contemporary musical scores. Their shows push the boundaries between contemporary music, and experimental theatre, in a truly unique format.

David Moran

David Moran is a Melbourne based cellist, currently studying at the Australian National Academy of Music. He completed a Bachelor of Music with First Class Honours at the Elder Conservatorium of Music, Adelaide, in 2015. David is working on developing a performance practice that encompasses the entire history and sonic possibilities of the cello.

He has been principal cellist of the Australian Youth Orchestra, a participant in Ensemble Offsprings young artist residency program, curates an early music concert series in the Adelaide hills with group Continuo Continuum and has toured regularly with Momentum Ensemble. Highlights of the last 12 months include: workshop performances of Cat Hopes opera Speechless, performing Brittens second string quartet with ASQ second violinist Francesca Hiew, performing the Ravel violin and cello sonata with ANAM violinist Mana Ohashi, and 2 recital programs spanning the cello repertory from Geminiani to Xenakis. He has performed regularly on Melbourne radio station 3MBS, and in 2017 premiered his own composition Ciaconna for Francois Couperin live on air. David will continue studies at ANAM in 2019 under the tutelage of Howard Penny and he hopes to become more ingratiated into the improv and experimental music culture of Melbourne over the next year.

Louisa Nicklin

The work of composer Louisa Nicklin encompasses both contemporary classical and popular music.

A graduate of Te Koki New Zealand School of Music - having studied with Michael Norris and Professor John Psathas - Louisa has had works performed and recorded by professional orchestras and small ensemble groups. Based in Auckland, New Zealand, Louisa is an accomplished musician. Alongside classical composition, Louisa also writes and performs songs as a soloist and with the band No Girl.

Louisa's workOne(2017) was recently performed and recorded by the New Zealand Symphony Orchestra as part of the 2018 NZ Composer Sessions - organised by SOUNZ Centre for New Zealand Music, and recorded by RNZ Concert. In November 2016 her piece for orchestra and soloist,Moonlit Delirium, was premiered by the Shanghai Philharmonic Orchestra in China as part of Shanghai Conservatory of Music's 'Hearing China' concert. Louisa has been a finalist in the highly-coveted New Zealand Symphony Orchestra's Todd Corporation Young Composers Award on two separate occasions. In 2015 for her piece-Construalsand in 2016 her piece(Ir)rationalwas selected. In 2016 she was awarded the Matthew Marshall Prize for a Classical Guitar Composition for her workLocus. Louisa's contemporary classical work explores the roles of psychological phenomena, patterns and processes in music.

Reuben Jelleyman

Reuben Jelleyman (1993 -) is a composer based in Wellington. He studied at the New Zealand School of Music and Victoria University of Wellington in Music and Physics, and has had music performed by Avanti! (Finland), the NZSO, NZTrio, and at the Asian Composers League Festival (Singapore 2013, Vietnam 2016). In 2015 Jelleyman was nominated for the prestigious SOUNZ Contemporary award for the work Expanse; he is the youngest person to have been nominated for this national award.
